VOL. XXII.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1894.

NO. 49

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—According to the Catholic Herald, there about 152,000 colored Catholics in the United States.

—Rev. E. M. Green, preached here Sunday and Rev. S. M. Logan filled his pulpit in Danville.

—Rev. S. M. Smothers, an evangelist who has been holding forth at the Brazil, Ind., camp meeting, is missing with the collections.

—The trail of the serpent is over them all. Even Nazareth, where Jesus spent most of his life, in fact He was called Jesus of Nazareth, has 30 whisky saloons.

—Elder R. Graham Frank was here yesterday returning from an appointment and told us that the meeting he and Joe Severance, Jr., are holding in Harrison county was progressing most favorably.

—Presiding Elder Norton, of Bucksville, Me., district, has just broken all records. He returned from a trip over his charge, during which he rode 485 miles, preached 61 sermons, ate at 51 tables and slept in 32 beds.

—Ex-Gov. Chase, of Indiana, who gave up his holy calling to become a politician has seen the error of his way and will return to the pulpit. Says he: "The call to preach the gospel is the highest calling a man of refinement and education can receive, and it looks strange that an able minister of the word should desert his calling for the sake of politics."

—Our Campbellite friends are getting along somewhat poorly in their efforts to "Unite the world on our plea." A recent meeting in Sherman, Texas, resulted in over 200 additions to their church there, and in less than two months after the close of the meeting they were in the courts asking a jury to decide which one of the three factions had a right to the use of the house of worship.—Western Recorder.

—The membership of the Danville Baptist church is 463, as shown by statistics read there Sunday morning, and one death among its members during the year. The pastor and the church pull together, the singing is the very best in the State and there, especially, all things work together for inalienable good. Mrs. Julia Craig Dunn, at the services Sunday morning, sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul" in a manner sublimely beautiful, by which the large audience was lulled into an admiring silence marvelous to witness. SECRETARY.

—Miss Mattie Bell Anderson, a relative of the Route, of this place, died at Harrodsburg of typhoid fever.

—The notorious Mexican bandit Luna and his wife have been slain by soldiers. The woman fought bravely by her husband's side and only ceased shooting when killed.

—The largest alligator ever caught in the Upper Mississippi was secured by a trot line at Hannibal, Mo. It was 7 feet 4 inches long, 46 inches around and weighed 260 pounds.

—Democrats of Alabama are in high feather over their prospects for the coming congressional elections. They do not expect to lose a district, as the Kolbitzes are thought to be on the verge of disintegration.

—The mock-heroic Santo, who was ecstatic when he found that the diabolic task of driving the cold steel into the vitals of the president of France had fallen to him by lot, went to the guillotine a cringing cur, so moribund with terror that he could not walk, and his coward teeth so chattering that his "vive l'anarchie" was scarcely audible.

—Henry Scott, a negro brute, attempted to ravish a three-year-old child of his own race, but was foiled and arrested. About midnight a mob of 156 men, principally colored, secured an entrance to the jail at Winchester for the purpose of lynching him. The prisoner defended himself with a sal from his bed with so much vigor that the mob was repulsed.

THOSE WHO ARE POSTED.—Will tell you that the finest and healthiest summer resorts in the northwest are located along the Wisconsin Central Lines, among which are Lake Villa, Fox Lake, Antioch, Burlington, Mukwonago, Waukegan, Neenah, Waupaca, Fifeield, Ashland and Duluth. Tourists and pleasure seekers figuring on their next summer's vacation should bear this in mind and before selecting a route drop a line to Jas. C. Pond, General Passenger Agent of the Wisconsin Central Lines, at Milwaukee, Wis., and he will send you maps, time tables and guide books containing valuable information, which are mailed free upon application.

G. A. R. encampment at Pittsburg, Pa., September 8th to 10th. The Queen and Crescent Route will make low reduced rates for the occasion. Call on any Q. & C. agent, or address I. Hardy, A. G. P. A., Vicksburg, Miss., R. H. Garratt, New Orleans, La., A. J. Lytle, D. P. A., Chattanooga, Tenn., W. C. Rinearson, G. P. A., Cincinnati.

I know an old soldier who had chronic diarrhoea of long standing to have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Says Edward Shumple, a prominent druggist of Minneapolis, Minn.: "I have sold this remedy in this city for seven years and consider it superior to any other medicine now on the market for bowel complaints." 25 and 50c bottles of this remedy for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, Druggist, Stanford, Ky.

THE CROWNLESS MARTYRS OF THE MARRIAGE RING.

He got out his writing material and placed them on the table near the aconite. Now he grew very cautious. No hitch in the tragedy must occur. He stealthily approached the door, closed the transom, to shut out the gaze of prying eyes, then he went to the window. The breath of mountain laurels stole through the open window. Through the vista of trees the columns of the springhouse gleamed white and ghostly in the moonlight. The saint-like face of the moon looked pityingly down on him. The stars blinked as if in tears. A meteor dropped like a golden tear from the sky and was lost in space. He closed the window, pulled down the curtain, then sat down by the table and wrote:

"DEAR MRS. ALLYN:—As I shall be away until late to-morrow afternoon, I write this to ask that you reserve the third, fifth and seventh dances for me to-morrow night. Please reply through the hotel office. Very truly,

THOMAS CARTER."

"When she shows this it will satisfy the public that my death was not premeditated."

Now I must write one that is intended for her eye alone, which she must destroyed after reading."

Then he wrote:

"I have concluded to take your advice and go away, but I have not selected the Warm Springs as you advised. I could never forget you so nearly as that place is. I feel that there is no place on this earth, be it far or near, where I could escape from my memory of you. I would commit a grievous sin were I so base as to continue to live under the existing circumstances, therefore I have decided, after mature deliberation, to end my life. From previous consultations and from certain exterior circumstances the doctor here will think my death was caused by an affection of the heart superinduced by the excessive use of tobacco. I have purposely arranged that he should think so, in order to deceive the public. The fact that a letter directed to you will be found in my room may couple your name unpleasantly with mine, therefore I enclose in this a request for you to reserve certain dances for me to-morrow night. This request you can show and it will satisfy the public's curiosity. Do not, I beg you, blame yourself for my death. In my heart I hold you blameless. Your name shall be the last on my lips, your memory the last in my heart. I dare not ask you, sometimes, to think of me, for—"

Down the hall he heard the quick, sharp heel taps of some one coming. He hastily gathered his writings together on the table, threw his arms around them to shield them from any prying eye, fearful that the walls might be pierced by some passing eye.

The foot-steps came nearer and nearer, then there was a faint tap on his door. He jumped up, gathered up his letters and the aconite, thrust them into his trunk and locked it, then he opened the door. Mrs. Allyn's maid stood before him.

"Here is a note Mrs. Allyn told me to hand you, she said I needn't wait for a reply," the maid said as she handed him the note.

Stepping back into his room he closed the door, opened the note and read:

"I waited until midnight for you to come but you disappointed me. I have been unable to sleep. I must see you to-night. Meet me under the oak near the tennis-court, as soon as you receive this. I have something I must say to you to-night. My maid thinks I am going to the train to meet my husband and that you will accompany me."

Hastily, E. A."

He seized his hat and hurried out, his mind torn with conflicting emotions. When he reached the oak, Mrs. Allyn was already there.

"When a lady asks a gentleman to come to her at 11 o'clock to report his decision on certain matters and the gentleman fails to come, what punishment should be visited on him?" she asked, her voice unsteady and unnatural.

"But I could not come. I could not trust myself with you in the presence of others, with my brain a seething mass of fire. You do not know. You can not understand, for you have never felt a hopeless passion, or the pangs of despair."

"Oh! God, but I have—I do. That is why I am here to-night to meet you. You must leave here to-night. You must leave here at once. You must leave before my husband arrives."

"But suppose I refuse. I am not afraid to face your husband. I have not dishonored him. Then why should I—?"

"But I have!" she cried, as she buried her face in her hands, "I have! I love you! I know it is a sin, and God only knows how I have struggled against it. Oh! my God help me!"

"Why struggle, darling, against it?" said he, approaching her with outstretched arms, "I am ready to go now. I am ready to go with you to the end of the earth. We will go, my darling, far away where the world cannot find us and there live only for each other—"

"Oh! please stop! Do not touch me! You misunderstand me," said she drawing herself back. "You must go alone. We must never see each other again. No, never in this world. God has given me the wisdom to see the right way, has given me the strength to resist this great temptation. But, apart from this, I can foresee the end if I were despicable enough to yield. You would always mistrust me. You would soon tire of me. You would think as I had been unfaithful once that at the first opportunity I would be unfaithful again."

"No, never!" he said interrupting her.

"Do not interrupt me. I know what you would say, what you would swear, but I know the misery, the wretchedness that I have already experienced when I allowed my affection to wander from my husband for this short season, then how much more miserable, how much more wretched would I be, were I to continue the dishonor to a disgraceful end? My marriage was a family arrangement. I was too young to think, too young and thoughtless to understand the solemn vows I took. Heretofore my husband and I have not been very congenial. I am going to change all that. I am going to subordinate my wishes to his. I shall never leave him again. I am resolved to be more affectionate, more considerate of his wishes, of his whims and shall try to make amends for my unintentional lapse from constancy and when I have strangled this unholy love, when I have re-established myself in my own estimation, then I shall tell him all."

"You shall go with me! You shall not break the promise of hope to my heart! If you know what love is, you would know that it cannot be mastered or governed by set rules. It will not down at your bidding. You may strangle what you think is love, what you call love, and forget me, but it can never be so with me. I can never forget you. Never! never!"

"Oh! yes you will. Time and absence will work wonders. You recollect what your own poet says: 'Man's love is of life a thing apart, 'tis woman's whole existence.' Men have so many ways to dull the pains of their love. They have so many ways to amuse themselves. A woman can only pray or suffer in silence. Save me from myself! Help me to be pure and honorable! The trains meet here in a few minutes. You can go either east or west. See I get down on my knees to you. I humble myself at your feet. I plead from a broken heart with you. Will you not go now? Will you fail me in this, the darkest hour of my life? Leave yourself out of consideration. Go for me, for my sake—for my sake—go!"

An ashy pallor had spread over Mr. Carter's cheek. He looked down into her upturned face, into her eyes all wet with tears that seemed like "two human stars that swam in dew." In the east "the meek and melting amethyst of dawn" was faintly blushing on the purple mountain tops.

Beyond the tunnel a faint line of smoke flapped lazily in the air, then from hill and gorge faintly echoed the whistle of the west-bound train.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.—The only direct line from Stanford to Washington, D. C., is via the Chesapeake & Ohio route, therefore, if you are going to attend the Knights of Pythias Conclave, which convenes August 22d to 26th inst, you will want to take the C. & O. Two fast trains leave Lexington daily and arrive in Washington three hours in advance of any other line. No change of cars. One glance at the map will convince you that the C. & O. is the only line to Washington. Tickets go on sale August 22d to 26th inst., good until September 15. For full information, sleeping car berths, tickets, etc. write or telephone George W. Barney, division passenger agent, Lexington, Ky.

—This is the way the Cincinnati Enquirer tells the tale: James Devine walked on the railroad track. Burial at Logan, O.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamps are enclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P., Primory, Campbell county, Tenn. For sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, Druggist, Stanford, Ky.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Several from this place are camping on the banks of "bonny" Green fishing.

—The "Animule Fair" has come and gone. The equine display was the marked feature.

—Mr. Welcher, who was shot by Bel-den is very much worse and not expected to live.

—Died on the 17th of typhoid fever, Eugene, son of Thomas Carter, aged 24. He leaves a wife and one child. His remains were interred in the Hustonville cemetery.

—Mrs. Priscilla Drye received a telegram Saturday morning saying her son, Bailey Drye, was very ill at Fort Worth, Texas. He is completely paralyzed and not expected to live. W. S. Drye started immediately.

—Mr. and Mrs. Steve Drye are visiting H. W. Drye and family at Springfield. Mr. Breck Jones and sons, of St. Louis, passed through here Saturday on their way to Russell. Misses Bertha and Erma Morse left Sunday to visit relatives at Portsmouth and Quincy. Frank McKinney, wife and baby, visited relatives here last week. Mrs. E. C. Walton and Lucy Lee have been visiting relatives here. Mrs. Cornelia Wright and George Bradley have returned to Calera, Ala. Mr. Henry King, wife and family, are at Mrs. Jennie Carpenter's. They will probably locate here. Moses Cook will shortly leave for Nashville to study and complete his course in Pharmacy. He will be much missed here as he has been a clerk "on the corner" for a number of years and always at his post. Mr. Will Cabell and wife, of Lebanon, spent Sunday here with the former's mother. Miss Agnes Weatherford, of Ennis, Texas, who was not expected to live, is some better. She has a genuine case of typhoid fever.

Another Call on John Bailey.

Turnersville, Ky., August 13. JOHN BAILEY, Esq.—Your immediate neighbors are very much gratified by the call made on you by the good people of another part of the district requesting you to become a candidate for reelection to the office of justice of the peace. You have served your people faithfully and well in the office for many years and knowing that you are capable and qualified, and that no man will make a more honest effort to discharge faithfully and impartially the duties of the office, we now insist that you give a favorable response to that call. You know that your neighbors will be but too glad to show their appreciation of your fidelity and integrity by giving you their hearty support.

AFTER a long deadlock the friends of President Cleveland won in the Texas convention by a vote of 451 to 415 and a platform was adopted reiterating the national democratic platform, endorsing President Cleveland's course as wise, patriotic and statesmanlike, commending his action in the labor troubles, declaring for bimetalism, for tariff reform, and denouncing protection as unwise, unpatriotic and undemocratic. On the adoption of the platform, John H. Reagan, candidate for governor and who had no show any way, withdrew from the race, declaring he had made his canvass on the issue of free silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and that he would not accept a nomination on the platform adopted if given him. He said, however, he would support the ticket that might be nominated. The convention then nominated C. A. Culbertson for governor and adjourned in good humor and apparent harmony.

HON. D. G. COLSON seems to have possession of the machine in the 11th district. He alone favored a primary election for the nomination of a candidate and lo and behold the committee met at London and did his bidding. Col. Silas Adams and John D. White favored conventions. Col. Adams will submit, but the created jayhawker is a sort of a free lance and may take it into his head to kick out of the traces, in which event there may be two republican candidates, if Colson is nominated, and a democrat will be elected. Col. Adams has made himself very solid with his people, however, and we are sure they will do him the simple justice of an endorsement for another term. The average republican is very susceptible to a money argument, though, and the monied man from Middleboro may be able to put his lucre where it will do the most good.

MADAME JANUSCHKE, bless her dear and ancient soul, is horrified that any decent theatrical manager should attempt to place Miss Madeline Pollard, upon the stage, which she, for so many years, has tried to dignify and elevate, and says she is going to use her utmost endeavor to keep New York theatres from engaging her. So far the legitimate Louisville theatres have declined the overtures of Manager Morris and say they will not permit Miss Pollard to tread their stages. It would be another demonstration of the eternal fitness of things, if the Buckingham alone will give poor Madge refuge. But why put the seal of condemnation alone on her and let "Willie" be honored again with a seat in Congress? A monastery and a nunnery are the places for both of them.

LAST winter President Cleveland, under a misapprehension, appointed one J. Hampton Hoge, of Virginia, to be consul at Amoy. He had gotten as far as San Francisco on his way to his post, when the president having learned that the appointee bore the reputation of being a drunkard and a chronic debt maker, without paying any, telegraphed his recall. Mr. Hoge was naturally very much incensed at the turn of events, but made his way back home and began a campaign of abuse of Cleveland and democracy. He went from bad to worse till he finally found his level in the republican party, which a few days ago nominated him for Congress in the 6th district. Truly the last end of that man is worse than the first.

EDITOR GRATZ, of the Lexington Gazette, although he has just married a 20-year-old bride, and naturally might want to keep his age a secret, is reminded by the present drouth, of the one which occurred in 1854. Says he: "Grass burned up, water became so scarce that stock had to be driven, in some cases many miles to water. It was pitiable to see the condition of Fayette county. No corn, no hay and no grass. Corn was $6 a barrel that winter and very scarce." In view of the fact that similar conditions are manifest, Mr. Gratz very timely advises the farmers that the prudent course is to provide for such contingency.

GORMAN and the other so-called democrats of the Senate voted with the republicans for Senator Murphy's resolution, declaring against further tariff legislation this session, thereby side tracking the so-called pop gun bills passed by the House. Notwithstanding the resolution was carried, Senator Harris, acting chairman of the Senate finance committee, has called a meeting of that committee, when he will bring before it the supplemental tariff bill.

JOHN H. GRIMES, the Harrodsburg Saying's Burgin correspondent, is a genius. His last letter to the paper occupies two columns and a half and is written in rhyme of sufficient merit to be worthy of the name of poetry.

THE permanent location of Gov. J. Proctor Knott in Danville is cause for congratulation to the city and section. It is the governor's ambition to close his long and honorable public career in founding a law department in Centre College, which will be second to none in the country, and his profound knowledge of the law, together with the able corps of assistants he has gathered about him, makes assurance doubly sure that he will succeed even beyond his expectation. No man has served his country or State better than Gov. Knott and none has won the right to the dignified retirement that the position will give him, while rounding up a well spent life in further usefulness to his fellowman.

THERE is no chance now unless the State inspector and examiner should enter into collusion with the auditor and treasurer, which is hardly a presumable probability, for the treasurer to work the Dick Tate racket and rob the State like he did. The settlement each month has to be witnessed by the examiner and his report published. We give on our fourth page the report to date. The condition of the treasury is nothing to brag on, but the people can be dead sure that the present cause of a deficit is not from default.

MR. WATERSON attempted to laugh Mr. Urey Woodson out of court and wither him with irony and sarcasm for what he evidently thought was an impertinent paragraph, but the Owensboro editor comes back at him in such a way as to show that he is able to hold a hand even with the distinguished head of the great Courier-Journal. There are also indications that Mr. Woodson turned the laugh on Editor Logan also; at least he laughs best who laughs last.

EVEN if that was a gambling debt, it is charged that the Hon. Will Owens paid the Hon. Jack Chinn, it shows that the Scott county man occasionally liquidates his indebtedness. Col. Breckinridge evidently has conscientious scruples against debt paying. If he has ever paid one, the fact does not appear. Certain it is that he has not paid Madge what the court said he owed her, at last accounts.

THE Richmond Register certainly must have space to spare when it can devote even a few lines to every dirty, low flung tramp, who sees fit to squirm and call names, when the truth is told on him. Our motto is to give the news no matter whom it may hurt and kick the fellow who kicks about it, if he come in range of our foot.

THE present Congress has reduced the pension charge, which had grown out of all proportions and is still shamefully large, $29,099,504. That and the repeal of the Sherman silver bill and the Federal election laws, goes far towards helping the body out of the rut into which its dillydallying tariff legislation put it.

THE King of Siam is dead. As he had 90 wives and 72 children, he is doubtless better off, no matter where he has gone.

—W. H. Daugherty, who retired from office Monday, has been superintendent of public schools in Bath county for 29 years.—Winchester Democrat.

—The grand officers of the various railroad organizations will appeal to the railroad officials to reinstate the men who went out in the A. R. U. strike.

—Conductor Goodman, who killed Col. Parsons, proprietor of the Natural Bridge Hotel, Va., for reporting that he was carrying dissolute women free on his train, was given 18 years in the penitentiary.

—Ex-Sheriff D. Grant Armstrong, of Covington, who is supposed to be dying, sent for his brother and confessed that he had forged his name to notes amounting to $15,000, which are held by the banks of that city.

—The republicans of the Senate objected to the majority naming Mr. White, of California, as a member of the finance committee, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Senator Vance and the matter had to go over.

—The Western Passengers Association, which has been for some time torn up over the harvest excursions, has finally arranged the matter satisfactorily. The excursions will be run for one fare, plus $2, for the round trip.

—A Kearney, N. J., iron molder, crazed from typhoid fever, stabbed his wife and four children and then leaped from a window, fracturing his skull and dying in an hour. None of the children nor the wife is seriously wounded.

—The citizens of Frankfort are holding mass meetings to devise means of ridding the town of released convicts. They will petition the Legislature to require that they be returned to the counties from which they were sent.

—Philadelphia boasts of 482 building associations with 105,000 members, $42,000,000 capital and $17,000,000 income. This is said to be the largest number in any single city, and to it is largely ascribed the stability of the city's business interests.

—Arrangements have been completed with the depositors and creditors of the recently closed Wichita, Kan., National Bank whereby the bank will re-open its doors for business Sept. 1. The controller is satisfied of the solvency of the institution.

—A watermelon cost a Tennessee negro his life. He was on an excursion train and when it stopped at Cohutta, Ga., he jumped off and stole a watermelon from a countryman's wagon. In attempting to get on the train after it had started he was run over and cut in twain.

—The merchants everywhere are preparing for a good trade this fall and winter. They have had but little business for about two years now, and people must begin buying from necessity. The merchants deserve a respite from the depression. It has been a long, hard and undeserved pull.

—By the new water-power gallows in Connecticut the murderer is jerked high in the air and then suspended. The pleasant assurance is given that there are thus two chances to break his neck. The chief beauty of the new machine is however, that the murderer executes himself with it.

—Lawrenceburg suffered a costly conflagration Friday night. The losers are Bond & Shouz's stock, $12,000; building, $10,000; Lawrenceburg Bank building, $5,000; W. P. Major, drugs, $2,000; Chambers heirs' building $3,000; L. C. Cox, confectionery, $15,000; Hickman heirs building $3,000. Origin of the fire supposed to be incendiary.

Linnietta Springs.

I SEND you a list of those who are enjoying the unsurpassed delights of Linnietta Springs, where Capt. Richards and his excellent better half make every body feel that it is good to be:

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chilton, Mr. Shelby Roberts, Mrs. Kate Martin, Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Blanton and children, Cynthia; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Jennings and children, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. E. R. Sparks and son and Mrs. Marie Jasper, Miss Emma Mitchell, Nicholasville; Mr. George H. Schone, wife and children, Mrs. Kate Longmier, Mrs. Ed Taylor and son, Miss Carrie Taylor, Cincinnati; Mr. Howard Kolb, Mr. Jas. D. Shelby, Montgomery, Ala.; Miss Jennie Hughes, Bloomington, Ill.; Misses Annie Alcorn and Nettie Wray, Stanford; Miss Joseph Daley, Frankfort; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cambron, Miss M. B. Spalding, Dr. W. W. Cleaver, Lebanon; T. E. Converse, wife and children, Rev. D. M. Sweets, wife and child, Louisville; Mrs. Ellen Wriglesworth, Cynthia; Rev. L. H. Blanton, Richmond; Mrs. J. E. Patrick, Jackson; James Denny, Lincoln Co.; Mr. J. W. Corley, Louisville.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

...White seed rye for sale. J. E. Bruce.

—Henry Anderson sold to George Baker a lot of fat cattle at 2 1/2c and a yoke of oxen for $58.

—J. C. Caldwell bought of James Adams 100 hogs of 125 pounds average at 5c.—Advocate.

—B. K. Burnam, of Richmond, sold to John T. Hughes, of Lexington, his roadster mare by Egbert for $500.

—The first bale of cotton of this year's crop was received at Memphis, Friday, from West Point, Miss., and sold at auction at 10c per pound.

—The orchard grass seed crop is short and prices have reached $1.65 to $1.75 per bushel—the usual price in good seasons hangs around the dollar mark.

—Tom Yeager drove Tip Bruce's Harry B. at Grand Rapids, Mich., to victory last week and took in $600. He won in straight heats; time 2:25 1/4, 2:21 and 2:20 1/4.

—At Rochester, N. Y., Fantasy went a mile in 2:07 1/4 which is the fastest mile ever trotted by a four-year-old mare. Robert J. went a mile in 2:04 1/4, driven by Lyons. Geers drove Fantasy.

—R. S. Dooley shipped this week for Goldsmith, of New York, 369 export cattle, weight about 1,500. These cattle were bought in this and Fayette county at 4 to 4 1/4 cents.—Winchester Democrat.

—M. S. Baughman's Ella B. is now at home. She has not been feeling well for some time and her owner thought that a rest would do her good. Mr. Baughman will likely send her to the St. Louis Fair.

—Crit Davis, who had things his own way last year, hasn't won a race in the East or West this year. His entire stable was troubled with pinkie and it was late in the season before he was able to give them work.

—When G. M. Harp, of Fayette, failed to get the premium in a saddle horse ring, at Versailles, he said that the judges had been bought. He was given a chance to apologize, but declining, was expelled from the grounds.

—A suit over the improper registry of the dam of a calf in New York has cost $5,000 already, and is as far from settlement as ever. This is an occasion when it is not profane to express the opinion that the whole dam business should be stopped.—Glasgow Times.

—Rosser & Coleman purchased the A. G. McCampbell farm of 340 acres at commissioner's sale for $16,506.55. This is a magnificent body of land, well improved, three miles from town. Mr. McCampbell used it as a stud and produced many superior horses.—Harrodsburg Sayings.

—D. C. Terhune bought 122 first-class sugar mule colts from different parties in eight different counties, that cost him an average of $46 40. All mares but 10. He sold a lot of yearlings to Martin & Thompson at $79 to $90. The Harrodsburg Democrat also reports sales of 60 stock hogs, 175 lbs. weight, at 4 1/4 and a car load of 1,500 pound-cattle at 3 1/4c.

STAGE GLINTS.

Jessie Haines will play the part of a tough girl in "On the Bowery."

George Monroe will shelve "My Aunt Bridget" next season and try fortune with a new piece on the same lines.

A copy of the third folio of Shakespeare was bought by Mr. Natalli at a sale in London recently for £435, or $2,175.

Thomas W. Keene will next season have a practically new company. His tour will be under the management of Edwin Arden.

Marlo and Dunham, the well known triple horizontal bar performers, are soon to separate. Dunham intends to join the Jordan family of acrobats.

James J. Corbett and the members of his company have organized a baseball club that is defeating nines all through the English provinces. Corbett is the shortstop.

Miss Linda da Costa has been engaged as prima donna of the company which C. B. Jefferson and Klaw & Erlanger are organizing to present Palmer Cox's "Brownies."

Mme. Emma Juch will emerge from her private life as Mrs. Wellman at the Worcester musical festival on Sept. 27 and 28. She will sing as leading prima donna at both the concerts in an oratorio.

Mme. Julie L. Wyman, the mezzo soprano, is to return to this country in the autumn. Mrs. Wyman has been singing in France and was heard there in "Samson et Delila," Saint-Saen's opera.

As agent for the widow and heirs of J. P. Land, dec'd, I will offer for sale the splendid farm of about

326 ACRES OF LAND, Near Hustonville, in Lincoln county, Ky., of which J. P. Land died possessed. It is not sold privately before that time the farm will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on SATURDAY, SEPT. 22, 1894, At 11 o'clock, sharp. The farm fronts on the Danville and Hustonville Turnpike road about one half mile South of Moreland station on the Cincinnati Southern R. R. It is one of the best stock farms in Lincoln county. The soil is of a good quality of blue-grass land, finely set in grass and watered by never-failing springs and every foot of the land is susceptible of easy and profitable cultivation. The improvements consist of

A Commodious Frame Dwelling. A large barn and other outbuildings. A wide avenue extends from the residence to the turnpike road. Hustonville, a place noted for its schools and churches, is a little more than a mile distant. The farm can be divided into three tracts of convenient size and shape.

Terms.—One-third cash when possession is given and deed made, the remainder in six and 12 months, with interest from date and then retained. At the same time and place I will sell about 100 of Knob Land, about two miles Southeast of Turnersville, adjoining the lands of Bud Martin, Albert Coffey and others.

For further information apply to John T. Land on the premises or myself at Hustonville, Ky. EDWARD ALCOCK, Agent for J. P. Land's Heirs.

PERSONAL POINTS.

MISS GATEWOOD GIVENS spent several days with Mrs. W. E. Ellis. Mr. MORGAN COOK, of Hustonville, spent yesterday with relatives here.

Mrs. EDDIE COOLEY commenced the school near Kingsville yesterday. Dr. G. A. TRAYLOR and Mr. Ed White are attending the Columbia Fair.

CAPT. A. D. HILL, of Memphis, is on a visit to his daughter, Mr. W. H. Kirby.

MISS JULIA HIGGINS, of Richmond, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. H. Higgins.

JOHN L. RAY, of Buckeye, Garrard county, is clerking in the Louisville Store.

Mrs. C. W. HOFFMAN and daughter, of Louisville, are the guests of Miss Sallie Dudderar.

MISS IDA MAY GRANT, of Lancaster, has a creditable poem in Sunday's Courier-Journal.

Mrs. GEORGE H. BRUCE passed through to Middleboro, Saturday, to visit her sister, Mrs. W. O. Park.

Mr. J. CARVER JONES, Judge Sterling F. Grimes and Prof. W. G. Lackey went to Elizabethtown Friday.

MISS MAGGIE LEWIS left for Buckeye yesterday to re-open the school she has taught for several seasons.

MISS ELLA TINSLEY, of Barbourville, arrived from Lexington, yesterday to visit the Misses Baughman.

MISS LUCY ALCOCK, of Hustonville, is the guest of Miss Inez Lapsley, of McAfee.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

Mr. JAMES SPIRES and daughter, Mrs. John Taylor, of Illinois, are visiting his son, Mr. John W. Spires, near Highland.

POSTMASTER ROUT went to Danville yesterday, but his capable assistant, Miss Sue Rout, ran things so nobody missed him.

AL H. SEVERANCE left yesterday morning on his bicycle for Shelbyville, where he will visit relatives and take in the Fair.

MISS NANNIE McDOWELL, of Danville, was up Saturday and J. N. Saunders returned with her and spent Sunday in Little Britain.

MISS MAGGIE and EVELYN BUCHANAN and Esie Burch will leave to-day for Virginia to visit the Misses Summers and other friends.

Mrs. LIZZIE MCALISTER, after a stay of six weeks here and at Crab Orchard Springs, returned to Danville, yesterday, with Master George.

MR. WILL J. YAGER, of Louisville, spent several days here basking in the smiles of one of the loveliest of God's last and best gifts to man.

Mrs. WILLIAMS, of Casey, who has been the guest of Mrs. John Bell Gibson went to Williamsburg Friday to visit the scenes of her childhood.

MISS EFFIE BURNETT, who has been the guest of the Misses Baughman for a month or more, returned to Winchester yesterday to the regret of many friends.

MR. J. S. KENNEDY, of Richmond, was here again en route to see a petite beauty at Hustonville. His visits are becoming alarmingly frequent, his rivals there think.

MISS MARGARET REID, a very handsome and cultivated lady of Nashville, is the guest of Miss Mattie White and the two honored our office with their presence yesterday.

DR. A. S. PRICE, who has been in bad health for some time, went over to Garrard yesterday to see if his mother could get him all right again. Poor fellow; sick and sweetheart gone. It is too bad.

MR. BEN A. EATON, managing editor of that sterling democratic daily, the Indianapolis Sentinel, is spending a few weeks at Crab Orchard Springs, and yesterday he and Dr. Dick and wife and Mrs. Gus Hofmann drove down to see the sights of the capital of Lincoln.

WM. N. LACKY, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Lackey, of Gallatin, Tenn., and grand-son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lackey, sends us samples of his engraving that show him to be a real artist. He is quite young, but his talent has already been appreciated by newspapers, which accept and pay for his work.

MISS SARRA PENNINGTON HAYS was on Saturday's train en route to Pittsburg to visit Mrs. J. W. Bastin. She has just graduated at the Protestant Infirmary at Lexington, which she has been attending two years, and is very proud of her diploma, which she has earned by close attention and study. Her general average was 85 and on materia medica, 97. She has already been offered a yearly position at $25 a month and expenses, but will likely offer her services as private nurse. We know of no young lady better qualified to earn her living or who deserves so much credit.

THERE will be a game of ball at the grounds near the water works this afternoon between the McKinney and Stanford clubs. Game called at 3 o'clock.

If you want your watch or any jewelry repaired, take it to Penny's. Mr. Deckelman does the work well and promptly; never disappoints a customer.

UNTIL Sept. 1, 1894, we will sell a 5-year guaranteed, high armed, six-drawer sewing machine for $25 and a No. 7 six-hole Arizona cook stove for $14.50. W. H. Wearren & Co.

THE engine of the Florida Special jumped the track near Brannon in Fayette and turned over. The engineer and fireman, Ed and John Bradley, were badly hurt, but not seriously, and none of the passengers were injured.

THE town of Crab Orchard will vote to-morrow, 23d, on the question whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered, or loaned there, and we hear that it is conceded that the "nocs" will carry by a good majority.

THE Knights of Pythias of this place will organize a lodge of that order at Lebanon in a week or so. Some 15 names have already been secured. Mr. W. L. Evans, who recently joined the order here, was mainly instrumental in getting the thing under headway.

THE banking business, as a profitable one, is among the things of the past in Kentucky. The new constitution provides for their taxation for State, city, county and school purposes, and now the income tax is added to the burden. The two banks here will have to pay about $3,500 taxes each a year or 1 1/2 per cent. of their capital and surplus.

OUR JIM.—The Mt. Vernon Signal has this mention of our esteemed correspondent: James Maret has been L. & N. station agent at this point since August 1, 1877, a little over 17 years. During the time he has never been suspended, turned-off and hired-over-again, or anything of that kind. This is a remarkable record. He has been offered promotions but he won't leave Mount Vernon because it is the best town on the line.

Mrs. W. H. MILLER entertained at dinner Friday in her usually hospitable manner, and with comprehensive menu, the following ladies: Misses Mattie and Bettie Paxton, Lettie Helm, Helen Reid and Florence Trueheart and Mesdames Forestus Reid, Joe Coffey, Lizzie McAlister and Robert J. Lytle. Notwithstanding the fact that no man was permitted to present himself, except Mr. Miller, and they tried to keep him away, the ladies are said to have enjoyed the occasion greatly, thereby proving that men are not nearly as necessary to woman's happiness, as some of them seem to imagine.

THE court-house was rammed, crammed and jammed again Saturday night to see the Caledonians perform. Ring Master Thomas M. Owsley delivered a very excellent welcoming address and told what his performers were expected to do. He then introduced his Egyptian pair, imported at the enormous cost of 15 cents, and they made the building ring with their wonderful oratory till Jack Beazley's false whiskers decided to come off, and he went with them. The feature of the evening was Miss Flora Ballou's recitations. She is decidedly gifted in that line, and her talent has been cultivated in Boston's superior school of elocution. She was loudly and longly encoored and finally responded in a reproduction of a school entertainment, in which her versatility and powers of mimicry were evidenced by assuming a half dozen or more characters and reciting the pieces assigned them. The Cook Bros., of Danville, made the music for the occasion and were much complimented. The debate, if such it could be called, seemed to be more to advertise the fact that Sam Menefee had gotten left in a love affair, than anything else, as well as to get off funny things, some of which were hoary with age, on the members of the society, and at its conclusion, Mr. W. H. Shanks, on the part of the judges, very appropriately announced that their decision would be reserved till the question had been discussed. Richard Bush, editor and proprietor of the Plagiary, read his paper, which was full of bon mots and take offs, which showed much originality and proved that it was a misnomer. The next meeting will be at the same place on the night of Sept. 1.

OUR Louis has gotten himself in trouble. A dispatch from Lexington says: The Henry Clay Republican Club, of this city, has brought suit against the Breckinridge Club and L. H. Ramsey & Co., sign painters, for appropriating a fine republican banner belonging to the republicans, and painting a likeness of Col. Breckinridge upon it.

THE best rain for months fell Sunday afternoon and it seems to have been general over the country, with the exception of the West End, which only had a dust layer. Here the ground is wet several inches and sufficient to make the corn and grass take a new lease of life. Danville also enjoyed a good wetting. We never did give up the hope that it would rain again, satisfied that Bro. Barnes and Miss Marie are right when they sing: It may not be my time, it may not be thy time, But yet in His own time the Lord will provide.

THE teachers of Boyle county have organized a county association for the purpose of meeting monthly for improvement. They will buy 50 or 100 volumes by standard authors on matters pertaining to education. The officers of the association are: E. L. Grubbs, president; vice-presidents (one from each district) J. L. Brady, Mr. Edwards, Miss Emma Knox, Wm. Lawwill, W. C. Grinstead, Mrs. H. H. Shearen; secretary, C. C. Bagby. The literary committee is Prof. J. W. Rawlings, Miss Keith Green, Miss Bagby. The first meeting of the association will be held Sept. 29.

IT was certainly not a violent presumption to presume that everybody knew by this time that newspapers do not publish anonymous communications. The reasons for it are so multitudinous and apparent that if they had not been stated many billion times, it ought to strike everybody that the only proper course for a newspaper to pursue is to require some responsible name to communications, "not necessarily for publication, but as a guaranty of good faith." These observations are inspired by the receipt of two letters, with items for this paper in the last few days, with no name to them, and will explain to the writers, why they went to the waste basket instead of into these columns.

AT 10 o'clock Sunday night Charles Hazlett called on Clerk G. B. Cooper and asked him to issue license to him to marry Miss Nannie Young. He didn't have the key, so Mr. Hazlett set out to find the deputy. As Jim Burton is a court-ing man, and a promiscuous one at that, it was nearly 2 o'clock before the man and the key were found, and then Mr. Cooper was awakened to issue the necessary papers, which he accommodat-ingly did. The occasion for so much haste was not apparent until yesterday, when Mr. George Washington Crabtree, with fire in his eye, blood in his heart and a double barreled gun in his hand, came to town and swore out a warrant, charging Mr. Hazlett with forging his wife's name. The marriage had not occurred, and instead of listening to a ceremony which would bind him to the girl of his choice, Mr. Hazlett probably listened to the reading of a warrant charging him with a penitentiary offense, as the paper was put in Deputy Sheriff Menefee's hands. Following is a verbatim et literatim copy of the alleged forgery:

Mr. County clerk I or therize you to give Mr. Charles hazlett, I. licens to marry my daughter nannie young. signed by mary ane crabtree.

Late yesterday Mr. Menefee returned and informed us that after much difficulty, he succeeded in finding and arresting Hazlett, and was returning with him to town, when Crabtree and his wife came on the scene and said they would drop the case, if he would return the license to the clerk. "I never did keer for you no how" said the girl, "you over persuaded me. Take them license back to the clerk." Mr. Menefee brought him in, the license was returned and Hazlett went his way a sadder, if not a wiser man. "I got no use for that fellow anyway." Mr. Crabtree explained "he's one of them onery sanctification men, that ain't no good for nothing."

A dispatch says that John Sapp was run over by the cars at Middleboro and "fatally injured. He will die."

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Widowettes is the pretty word invented to designate the ladies whose widowhood is due to the law courts.

—J. E. Dickey, a bachelor, aged 65, and Miss Mary Wright, 63, were married in Ohio after 20 minutes' acquaintance.

—The calculation is made that an average of 3,000 marriages is performed daily. It seems like that ought to give every old maid a chance.

—Dr. Price's understudy, Mr. Nathan McKinney, came into this office yesterday in great trouble over the fear that the doctor had fled to Cincinnati with a fair maiden. We don't believe a word of it, however; but then again we may be mistaken.

—Some time ago Amos W. Waulle, of Kinnicanie, N. Y., inserted an advertisement in a Cincinnati paper to the effect that he was on the matrimonial market. It was seen by Mrs. Mary Floorees, of Springfield, Ky., who answered it. The two corresponded for a brief period, and the affair ended in their marriage Tuesday.

—Thomas W. Mann, aged 28, and Miss Monie H. Moore, a pretty little damsel of 17, came up from Junction City, Saturday, and were married by Judge W. E. Varnon. After the ceremony, the groom said to the judge, "Look here, boss, what is that you said about loving and supporting this gal long as she lives." "You promised," said the judge, "to love, cherish, protect and support her during life. No divorce goes when I marry a couple, and futher more you have also to vote the democratic ticket as long as you live." "I'll always votethat ticket," said the fellow, "but I tell you right now I ain't going to live with her no longer than she behaves herself."

—Alix, the pretty little mare, won the free-for-all at Terre Haute Friday in 2:06, 2:06 1/2 and 2:05 1/2, the fastest three heats ever trotted. Ryland T. was second, Pixley third, Belle Vora fourth and Walter E. was distanced. On the same day Oakland Baron, 2-year-old, trotted a mile in 2:16 1/2, lowering Boreal's record 1/2 of a second.

Order of Election.

LINCOLN COUNTY COURT.

Regular Term, held July 9, 1894.

Hon. W. E. Varnon, Judge.

A petition having been filed before the Judge of the Lincoln County Court on the 10th day of June, 1894, signed by a number of the legal voters of the town of Crab Orchard, asking that an order be made calling an election to be held in said town on the 22d Day of August, 1894.

To take the sense of the legal voters of said town, who are qualified to vote at an election for county officers, upon the proposition whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned therein, said petition coming on for hearing on the 9th day of July, 1894, it being the first day of the regular July term, 1894, and it appearing that the legal voters of said town signing said petition represent more than 25 per cent. of the votes cast in said town at the last general election, and all of the requirements of law having been complied with: It is ordered that an election be held on the 22d day of August, 1894, between the hours of 7 A. M. and 4 P. M., for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal voters of said town who are qualified to vote at elections for county officers, upon the proposition whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned therein, the result of said election to be certified to and returned as required by law in election for county officers.

The following order is made in conformity to an opinion and mandate of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the case of W. B. Penny and others vs. W. E. Varnon, Judge of the Lincoln County Court, when it was held with the Judge of the Lincoln County Court as a ministerial officer is required to order such elections upon the presentation of a petition and payment of money to meet the expenses, as in this case which opinion the Judge of the Lincoln County Court, considers controls him until reversed by a higher tribunal. The following officers are appointed to hold election, to-wit:

Precinct No. 1.—W. K. Buchanan, L. A. Pettus, Judges; E. K. Farris, sheriff; W. A. Carson, clk. Precinct No. 2.—J. P. Glickerson, J. H. Stephens, Judges; John McClure, sheriff; W. B. Hansford, clerk.

A copy attest: GEO. B. COOPER, Clerk. By J. H. Burton, D. C.

In compliance with the requirements of the law the foregoing order of election by the County Judge of Lincoln County is published for the information of all concerned. Sheriff Lincoln Co. July 16, 1894.

Deign to listen, one and all,
And give your attention to this call.
New goods received, of the latest style,
Kind friends, no trouble to look awhile,
Sure to please in both quality and price.
Try him once, he'll do; try him twice.
His finger, side combs and pins for the hair;
Each one selected with especial care.
Just think of the beauties in China and glass,
Every one demanding a look as you pass.
Who could resist going in to behold
Emeralds and diamonds and glittering gold?
Look well up and down and along the line;
Each look will reveal letters prime,
Rightly naming the man of this rhyme.
